

A Gentleman Defined.
"What is a gentleman?" asks an interested exchange. As we grasp the subject, a gentleman is a strange medley of curious mysteries. It is a living and moving hamam being hangs out at hotels, wears cardinal sports, and is not to show them, and a diminutive pane, bridges his nasal beacon with eye glasses hitched to a string, ogles pretty girls on the street or at the theater, bores editors and other weak livered dyspeptics, smokes the clear quid, kinickinick filler, with tissue paper wrapper, plays billiards muchly, swears elegantly, waltzes the "Buck" divinely, talks slicker than boiled grease, knows the ropes, intimate with the kitchen mechanics, owes everybody, pays nothing, not even attention, and frequently wrestles with the existence of a mystache. The thorough bred always belongs to some club. He is an ornament to himself.

Learn to be Short.
Long visits, long stories, long exhortations, long prayers, and long editorials, add no profit those who have to do with them. Life is short. Time is short. Moments are precious. Learn to condense, abridge and intensify. We can endure many an ache and ill if it is soon over while even pleasure grows insipid and pain unbearable, if they are protracted beyond the limits of reason and convenience. Learn to be short. Lop off branches; stick to the main facts in your case. If you speak tell your message and hold your peace; boil down two word into one, and three into two. Always learn to be short.

It is the man with only one suit of cloths and a small salary, my son, who has to be polite and agreeable, and a rigid, faultless observer of the strictest points and forms of etiquette. The man worth $50,000 may tramp on your corns, walk across your wife's train and eat pie with a knife, and it is all right; his standing in society isn't affected by it. But you—don't you, on your present salary, attempt to drink soup out of the side of your plate, if you want to marry an heiress. You can't afford to act that way just yet.

I would announce to the congregation that, probably by mistake, there was left at the meeting-house this morning a small cotton umbrella, much damaged by time and wear, and of an exceedingly pale blue color; and in the place whereof was taken a very large black silk umbrella of great beauty. Blunders of this sort, my brethren, are getting a little too common."

ANDREW J. Gillen, who shot and killed Miss Singerson, a lady who refused to receive his attentions, in New York a few days ago, was arrested on Friday at Cedar Key, Fla. He immediately shot himself and died in a few hours calling upon "Mary" with his last breath. He was a lawyer and seem to have no other fault than being insanely in love.

A visit to Kortjohn's Cheap Cash Store at this time is really instructive and remunerative. One has no idea how many bargains are to be had until they go and see for themselves. One pleasing feature in this establishment is that they are not puffed up by their success, but everyone is willing and anxious to show you around and sell you low down for cash—for you must remember that the secret of Kortjohn's success has been the cash trade. He makes no exceptions. Keeps no slate. No memorandums in cash drawer, but gives sledge hammer bargains in exchange for the Amer can dollar. With alert, experienced buyers of fair judgment, pluck, audacity and ability, having unlimited command of that one thing that will buy the world, they are able to watch and take advantage of these splendid chances and offer to their customers who are not afraid of the insane cry of auction goods, jobs, leaders and specialties well calculated to unsettle the brain of the buyer on time at fifty per cent. on goods interest added. It injures no fabric to drive it through the giant engine of U. S. Marshal's assignee, the Sheriff and the auction mart of the city. It only costs the price from a very high to a very low figure. The stock of this store has been largely replenished during the week and they are now prepared to meet the demands of their many friends. In addition to the heavy stock they are now opening the following, which persons in the country would do well to notice: Silver plated table and tea spoons, knives and to ke, window shades, ladies dress goods, boys shoes, glassware, and a used other things. P. G. CANNON.

WHY THE LIGHT-RUNNING "DOMESTIC" IS THE MOST Popular Machine in Market.

This great popularity is due to its plan of construction and a superiority in its material and workmanship. The result of these advantages is a UNIFORMLY SUCCESSFUL PERFORMANCE in sewing, the value of which cannot be fully appreciated except by experts in mechanism.
It possesses, however, numerous other peculiarities that cannot fail to attract the notice and excite the admiration of all who investigate its merits. Prominent among them is the absence of friction, making it the LIGHTEST RUNNING MACHINE in the world, and saving the strength and often the health of the operator. Its wonderful simplicity renders its care the most trifling of labor; while its great size gives it a capacity for the largest garments, as well as for the smallest article. Its strength will resist any strain to which it can be subjected, and withstand the roughest of usage, or the most continuous wear without any repair.
Recent improvements have greatly enhanced its qualities, and its success in the past is but an indication of its future. And now made, with its Adjustable Conical Bearings, the Combination Fly-Wheel, the Self-Threading Shuttle, the Improved Tension and Take-Up, the Enlarged Foot, the Self-Setting Needle, and the beautiful and durable built-up and bent-wind Cabinet Work it has a distinction and rank far above the ordinary sewing machine of the day.
"THE 'DOMESTIC' IS WARRANTED To be made of the best material and in the most thorough manner; to do any and all kinds of work that can be done on any machine; to be complete in every respect, and to be perfect in every part.
Sixteen years in use and not a single one can be found that is worn enough to unfit it for use. For sale by

How Watches are Made.
It will be apparent to any one who will examine a SOLID GOLD WATCH, that aside from the necessary thickness for engraving and polishing, a large proportion of the precious metal used, is needed only to stiffen and hold the engraved portions in place, and supply the necessary solidity and strength. The surplus gold is actually needless so far as UTILITY and beauty are concerned. In JAMES VAN TASSEL'S PATENT GOLD WATCH CASES this waste of precious metal is overcome, and the SAME SOLIDITY AND STRENGTH produced at from one-third to one-half of the usual cost of solid cases. The process is of the most simple nature, as follows: a plate of nickel composition metal, specially adapted to the purpose, has two plates of SOLID GOLD soldered one on each side. The three are then passed between polished steel rollers, and the result is a strip of heavy plated composition, from which the cases, backs, centres, bezels, &c., are cut and shaped by suitable dies and formers. The gold in these cases is sufficiently thick to admit of all kinds of chasing, engraving and enamelling; the engraved cases have been carried until worn perfectly smooth by time and use without removing the gold.
THIS IS THE ONLY CASE MADE WITH TWO PLATES OF SOLID GOLD AND WARRANTED BY SPECIAL CERTIFICATE.
For sale by all Jewelers. Ask for Illustrated Catalogue, and to see warrant. March 12, 1880—1y
